Section 3.2.2.4 : Single-Source Selection

The FAA may contract with a single-source when in FAA's best interest and the rational basis for the decision is documented. This rational basis may be based on actions necessary and important to support FAA's mission, such as emergencies, standardization, and only source available to satisfy a requirement within the time required. For procurements not anticipated to exceed $10,000, there is no requirement for competition or single-source justification; requirements must not be split to meet this exception. This section 3.2.2.4 is not applicable to noncompetitive awards made to socially and economically disadvantaged businesses (SEDB)/(8(a)) or service-disabled veteran owned small businesses (SDVOSB) under AMS policy 3.6.

The decision to contract with a single-source may be made as part of overall program planning. The rational basis must be documented and approved as a part of program planning in the implementation strategy and planning document, a procurement plan, or as a separate document. If an Exhibit 300 is not required and the service organization determines that a procurement plan is unnecessary, an independent single-source justification must be documented and endorsed by the service organization and approved by the CO.

Market analysis should be conducted to support each single-source decision, except for emergencies. The method and extent of the analysis depends on the requirement.

The CO must document the objective criteria supporting the rational basis for the decision in writing. Examples of information that might be documented include results of market analysis, cost or price data, unique qualifications or performance capability, and past performance. Mere conclusions, without adequate objective supporting data, are insufficient.

After the decision to contract with a single source has been approved, a public announcement must be made for any action over $100,000, except in emergencies. The purpose of the announcement is to inform industry about the basis for the decision to contract with the selected source.

A basic contract may be modified to exercise an option, or to satisfy a follow-on procurement for more of the same products or services without seeking additional competition when, based on market analysis, there is a rational basis not to compete the requirement and the rational basis is documented and approved as discussed in this subsection.
